WILSON STAND ON IRISH QUESTION

Report President Said Question Rested Between Ireland and England Denied

Statement Made by Man Who Attended Dinner a "Deliberate Falsehood"

Secretary Tumulty Issues Formal Denial in Behalf of President

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—Secretary Tumulty issued a statement at the White House denying formally on behalf of President Wilson that the resident foreign affairs committee's Wednesday night, that the Irish question was a matter between Ireland and England, and that Ireland would have no voice in the peace conference at present.

A statement to this effect, made by at least one of the committee after the White House conference, was characterized as a "deliberate falsehood." Mr. Tumulty refused to discuss what the president did say about the Irish question.

The denial follows:

"In the last few days the following quotation has appeared in the press under a Washington date line as part of the report of the dinner given by the president at the White House Wednesday evening, Feb. 26, to the members of the committee on foreign relations of the senate and the committee on foreign affairs of the house: 'The president told the committees that the Irish question was a matter between Ireland and England and that Ireland would not have any voice in the peace conference at present.'

"The president wishes me to say that this statement has no foundation in fact and is a deliberate falsehood."

RIOTING BREAKS OUT ANEW IN MUNICH

COPENHAGEN, Feb. 28.—Rioting broke out anew in Munich yesterday, according to the correspondent of the Politiken. Three thousand Spartacists marched to the parliament buildings in an effort to force the diet to proclaim a soviet republic.

COMMITTEE ON APPROPRIATIONS

There will be a special meeting of the city council tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock to take up again the matter of appropriations. It is expected that the annual budget will finally be decided upon at this session as Mayor Thompson is to leave for Washington later in the day or early Sunday.

MAYOR IN WASHINGTON

While in Washington on Monday and Tuesday at the labor conference of mayors and governors, Mayor Perry D. Thompson will also attend a reconstruction conference at the White House which opens Monday morning. President Wilson will be one of the speakers. An invitation to attend this conference was contained in a telegram received by the mayor today.

FRED J. COLLINS

One of the most appreciated salesmen yet received from anyone comes from a gentleman known all over New England. Fred J. Collins, who resides at 204 Merrimack Street, Providence, R. I., Mr. Collins says:

"For the benefit of my many friends and acquaintances all over New England I am making public for the first time through the columns of this paper what saved me from rheumatism. Before my doctor tried them all, but it took this great remedy to do the work. I consider it has no equal and is most highly recommended to all who suffer as I have."

If you are interested in what this remedy will do after reading the above statement from Mr. Collins? For rheumatism, indigestion, nervousness, stomach, kidney, or liver ills, Vitalitas has no equal. It is the most famous home drug since.

STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—Changes at the regular opening today were trivial in an noteworthy instance varying more than a small fraction. Before the end of the first half hour, General Motors caused a reversal throughout the market by pulling up the price of five points, yielding out to two points between sales. Other specialists particularly motors and oils, lost one to four points, but standard shares were not much affected.

The break in General Motors, which had the marks of a general raid, was followed by an extensive buying movement in shipping, leathers, tobacco and several representative equipments. General Motors retrieved more than half its loss and related shares made prominent recoveries after which market settled down to comparative dullness. The demand for shipments resulted in an advance of 4½ points for American International Corporation and 4 for Atlantic Gulf, Hide & Leather, American Car, American Locomotive, Chicago and Pacific Telephone were strong.

The conflicting course of prices at mid-day indicated the divergent views of pools and further profit-taking. Steels, oils, rails and specialties showed extreme declines of 1 to 3 points. Shipments and tobacco increased early gains.

GILLET IS NOMINATED SPEAKER OF HOUSE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—Representative Frederick H. Gillett of Massachusetts was nominated on the first ballot last night by the republican conference as the party candidate for speaker in the next house of representatives.

Representative James R. Mann of Illinois ran second with Representative Philip Campbell of Kansas, who entered the race a few days ago after Representative Simon D. Pess of Ohio had withdrawn, far behind.

As republicans will have a majority in the next house, nomination is regarded as equivalent to election.

Unanimous on Mann's Motion

The official vote as announced by Representative Horace M. Towner of Iowa, chairman of the conference, follows: Gillett, 128; Mann, 63; Campbell, 12; scattering, 5; 1 for Representative John J. Bush of Wisconsin and 1 for Representative Frank W. Mondell of Wyoming.

Immediately after the ballot was announced, the election of Mr. Gillett was made unanimous on motion of Mr. Mann.

Gillett Has Reached His Goal

Immediately after his nomination Mr. Gillett issued this statement: "I have reached the goal of my ambitious problems of the coming session."

Preliminaries occupied the first half-hour of the meeting. Representative Horace M. Towner of Iowa was chosen presiding officer and the conference then adopted a resolution outlining the program of the night's work.

Besides providing for selection of a candidate for speaker, with two hours time being divided equally among supporters of the three aspirants, the resolution provided for the election of committees to make the assignment of members to various house committees, to revise the rules, and to select various house employees including clerk, door-keeper and sergeant-at-arms.

Nominated By Green of Vermont

Vigorous applause greeted the first mention of the names of the candidates. Representative Green of Vermont nominated Mr. Gillett and the nomination was seconded by Representative Anderson of Minnesota.

Representative Kahn of California, in nominating Mr. Mann, declared he "knew no reason to change his vote from the man who was the republican candidate in the last three congresses when we were in the minority," his assertion that charges that Mr. Mann "was not in accord with the administration in the conduct of the war were without foundation" was greeted by applause and cheers.

Mr. Campbell was nominated by Representative Anthony of Kansas, who said "the vital necessity is to pick a man who will not have to be apologized for." Representative Ellsworth of Minnesota seconded the nomination.

Gillett Is Veteran of House

For continuous service, Mr. Gillett is the veteran of the house, as he is rounding out his 24th year of consecutive service in that body. Although he entered congress when Representative Cannon of Illinois was a vetera-nator, Mr. Gillett's record for unbroken service exceeds that of the former speaker, whose 19 years in the house have been interrupted by absence from two congresses.

Despite his long service, Mr. Gillett is not one of the most widely known members of the house and his friends ascribe his rise to republican leadership to his close application to legislation rather than to any personal advertising. In this connection they pointed to the fact that all of the speeches he has delivered during almost a quarter of a century of service would scarcely fill one small volume.

Representative Gillett is from the second Massachusetts district and his home is in Springfield. He was born in Westfield, Mass., in 1852, and was graduated from Amherst college and the Harvard Law school.

The nominee for speaker entered public life in 1879—two years after receiving his law degree being appointed assistant attorney general, which honor he held until 1882, when he returned to private law practice. His first election to office was in 1889 as a member of the Massachusetts house of representatives.

He was re-elected in 1891 and at the conclusion of his term was nominated to congress and elected by a large vote. He has received 12 re-elections from his district, and in the last campaign had no democratic opposition.

The piano was built of solid mahogany, with rosewood trimmings and is inlaid with brass. It will stand on its original legs, which are beautifully carved, and have brass trimmings. In its new service as a desk it will have secret drawers, a drop cover and will be an article of furniture well worth $250.

BRIDAL VEIL BRAND HAS BIG SALE

It is surprising what a wonderful sale that Bridal Veil brand of flour is having at all the grocery stores and markets in Lowell where it can be obtained. Not the least of the causes that has helped to boost the sale of this brand of flour and have it introduced into homes where it has not heretofore been known is the fact that women of experience who have used it assert that larger number of average loaves of bread can be made from a barrel of Bridal Veil flour and whiter and better tasting loaves than from any other flour they have ever used.

Bridal Veil is not a hard brand of flour to obtain and its price is not anywhere near as high as what bakers might expect such an excellent brand of flour would have to sell for. Of course it is the women of the city who use flour and their attention is directed to the fact that the city agent for Bridal Veil flour, Frank W. Foye, has an extensive advertising campaign on, using The Sun almost exclusively, recognizing it as the great read-at-home paper of Lowell, and in his advertisement printed today it will be noted that he had printed a list of the stores in Lowell which are selling his flour and standing back of it.

Mr. Foye is also agent for the well-known Red Lily brand of canned goods.

opened the post-prandial exercises by thanking all those present for making the minstrel show such a success and then called on Bernard F. Rourke, musical director, for a few remarks. Mr. Rourke said it had been a pleasure to work with the Glee club at all times and in conclusion, asked for continued co-operation in the staging of the coming Irish night concert.

A musical program, including country singing, was carried out and then general dancing was enjoyed until midnight.

The committee in charge of the affair was as follows: J. J. Townsend,

EX-SENATOR EDMUNDS OF VERMONT DEAD

PASADENA, Calif., Feb. 28.—George F. Edmunds, ex-United States senator from Vermont, died here yesterday following a long illness. He was 71 years old.

George Franklin Edmunds, United States senator from Vermont 25 years, from 1890 to 1891, when he retired voluntarily, received all of his early education in the private schools of Richmont, Vt., where he was born Feb. 1, 1848, and from a private tutor. Yet he was only 27 years old when the University of Vermont gave him the honorary degree of master of arts and 41 when Middlebury college conferred upon him the title of LL.D.

This lad, who had never studied in university, college or other institution of higher education, was afterward considered the best authority in the country on parliamentary and constitutional law.

During the presidency of Gen. U. S. Grant he was one of the four most intimate and confidential friends and unofficial advisers of the hero of the Wilderness and Appomattox, the others being Hamilton Fish, George S. Boutwell and Admiral Ammen.

Mr. Edmunds' father was Ebenezer Edmunds, a sturdy and thrifty farmer who had emigrated from western Massachusetts and had a great influence with his townsmen. His mother was Naomi Briggs, a woman of strong intellect and noble traits.

Young Edmunds began the study of law at a very early age, and after being admitted to the bar, in 1849, settled in his native town to practice his chosen profession.

Two years later young Edmunds removed to Burlington, where he continued to reside until he retired from politics. In 1891, when he removed to Philadelphia, since then he has had a lucrative practice

In the supreme courts of the United States and in those of several states, Mr. Edmunds won a pronounced success at the bar, his studious habits, acute intellect and loyalty to clients winning a lucrative practice. Several years ago he gave up active business and virtually retired to private life in California.

His earliest ventures in politics were in the Burlington town meetings where as a very young man he was chosen moderator for several years. He had not only an intimate knowledge of parliamentary rules but a facility of prompt and accurate decision that carried him far in his later years. Mr. Edmunds always acclaimed the town meeting as the best possible school of the politician.

He was representative in the state legislature from 1854 to 1859, speaker in the last three years; state senator in 1861 and 1862 and in 1866 was appointed United States senator by the governor to fill the unexpired term of Solomon Foot. He was elected when the time came and for four successive terms. His first speech in the senate was an eulogy of his predecessor, which won him a place in roll of ora-

He got 34 votes for nomination for president at Chicago in 1860 and the following year when President Garfield died and Vice President Arthur succeeded, Mr. Edmunds was chosen president pro tempore of the senate. He secured the passage of the Anti-Polygamy act known as the Edmunds Bill.

In 1859 Mr. Edmunds married Miss Susan M. Lyman, daughter of Hon. Willis Lyman of Burlington. They had two daughters. The Burlington home was one of the most beautiful in Vermont, filled with rare books and works of art, and surrounded by splendid trees, all natives of the state.

LIEUT. BENT ADDRESSES

HIGHLAND CLUB

Lieut. Bertram D. Bent, son of the late William H. Bent of this city, and himself a former resident of Lowell, spoke last night to the members of the Highland Club at their semi-monthly meeting.

For the past several months Lieut. Bent has been in the convoy service of the United States navy as chief officer of the S.S. Avondale, a 10,000 ton tanker. In convoy his ship made one round trip to European waters and return and he told of his experiences with attacking biplane airplanes and submarines.

The 17 ships in the convoy went first to the south coast of England and then to Havre, France, where some of the cargo was left, and proceeded from there up the Seine river to Rouen, where the balance of the freight was left. The Avondale was attacked by a biplane formation of planes while on the Seine, and although several bombs fell nearby, the target was not struck.

On leaving Rouen the tanker went to Plymouth, England, and joined a convoy of 21 ships bound for the United States. Two days out they were attacked by submarines. Lieut. Bent was below deck when he heard the first shots fired and went up just in time to see a depth bomb dropped from a captive balloon attached to the British Army War Patriot made a direct hit on the side and blow it to the four winds of the sea. The first two bombs missed the undercarriage by a few yards, but the third caught it right on the sounding tower. The convoy then zigzagged on its course until the Avondale picked up another submarine, hardly 200 yards off the port bow. The sub launched a torpedo and then submerged. The high explosive rushed through the water and just missed the bow of the Avondale. The convoy ships were in echelon and the torpedo after passing the bow of the tanker, struck the stern of the fourth and the bow of the fifth and disappeared into the open water beyond.

MY 10th BIRTHDAY

Today, February 28th, I begin my Eleventh successive year in Lowell—my Eleventh year as the biggest custom tailoring establishment in the history of Lowell. I mention this to remind you of the fact that no man can stay in business in this or any other city ten full years and head his class unless he makes good.

A brief fortnight ago I startled this lively city with my astounding offer of Prohibition Classic Worsteds from the Perseverance, Standish, Wanskuk, French River, Mill Numbers. The result was historic in my tailoring career, and is now town talk.

BEGINNING MY 11th YEAR IN LOWELL

I celebrate my anniversary week by closing out all ends left in stock from my $22.50 sale of two weeks ago. Necessarily broken and incomplete after the wild rush of business that greeted the announcement of that $22.50 sale there yet remain enough wonderful fabrics for me to create a celebration worthy of this occasion of my anniversary.

Special Anniversary Offer

Every garment made on this occasion is recorded and will receive my personal attention ABSOLUTELY FREE for one year—in regard to linings—sewings and pressing. Make my coat shop your valet.

FLOATING BOND ISSUE

1919, Mrs. F. L. Higginson, director of the New England war savings district, states that senators and members of the national house of representatives are convinced that the sale of government securities for another year is essential in order to raise money with which to meet post-war obligations.

"Where is the money to come from?" asked Majority Leader Kitchin in reply to an inquiry. There is no doubt that expenses are going to be heavy for some time after peace is declared and the people must do their share. We cannot make taxes too heavy. There will be need for funds in addition to those which will be raised under the revenue bill just reported."

"The people must support the government until the war is won," declared Champ Clark, speaker of the house. "The actual fighting is over, that is true, but we have got to see that our debts are paid, and everyone must help."

"I heartily approve of the sale of government securities during the coming year," said Representative Gillett of Massachusetts, candidate for speaker of the house. "It is not only an excellent way for every citizen to do his duty but to my mind it is a fine scheme for promoting thrift and individual saving."

The brave soldiers who fought that we might live and who so nobly maintained American traditions and ideals must be brought home," Senator Chamberlain, chairman of the senate military committee, pointed out. "This will entail a great deal of expense. When they return we must find suitable positions for them, care for the wounded, and look after many phases of the re-adjustment problem which will demand a considerable outlay of funds backed by the whole-hearted support of the American people."

Senator Weeks of Massachusetts: "I approve of the plan. The money will have to be raised, therefore, it is essential that everyone put his shoulder to the wheel and help."

AMUSEMENT NOTES

Below is what the press agents of the different theatres say of the current attractions and of others to come later.

H. P. KEPPES' THEATRE

Audiences simply cannot get enough of Ruth Royle, who is toppling the list of acts at the Keith theatre this week. There is no doubt but that she could go on singing indefinitely if her strength held out. But there is a limit, and so the clever stage comedienne stipulates that, allowing her audience to go unsatisfied.

Rene Arnold and Jack Altman in "Vive Versa," are entertainers of more than usual ability. Miss Arnold puts over her oddities in a manner that catches many a laugh, and Altman is a good straight foil. The Imperial Comediettes sing grand opera and Neapolitan melodies charmingly, and "Disco-Don" is quite as good a light comedy as we have had this year. Clarence Oliver and George Cipri present us and get along in a musical order of plays. Gordon & Frear in cycle stunts, Cooley & Wolfe in a cyclone musical act, and Walling & LeFever in aerialism are also on this very good bill. The Kinograms are brand new and show current cycle pictures. A film comedy is also presented.

dations for amendment. He declared they as now drafted, the constitution would contravene the Monroe Doctrine, strike at American sovereignty, involve America in all foreign disputes, substitute internationalism for nationalism and be of benefit principally to Europe.

Expressing complete sympathy with the popular demand and efforts toward an agreement for world peace, he said he was not prepared to say that there could not be a concert of nations to safeguard against war, but he insisted that the agreement for such a concert should be drawn up calmly and deliberately when the world was at peace, and not hastily when war still existed. STOP THE "FLU"

Sterilize Nose with Mintol Vapo-Cream. During Epidemic in London in 1891 Mintol and Oil Eucalyptus Proved Most Effective. Mintol Is a Salve Containing Both Menthol and Oil Eucalyptus, Together with Other Antiseptic and Healing Oils Which Prevent the Germs From Spreading.

Boston, Mass., October 1918. Physicians here have found the most effective treatment for the Spanish influenza is to apply hot cloths to the chest and throat and on the back of the neck and between the shoulder-blades for 10 minutes. Then rub a cold cream or salve containing similar ingredients as are found in Mintol Vapo-cream. Cover the parts with hot dry cloths and arrange them loosely over the chest so that the vapors arising may be inhaled and the healing oils work in relieving the pain, quickening and healing the mucous membrane of the throat and nostrils. Its action is to sterilize the throat and nostrils, preventing the germs from producing their deadly work. Rub a little salve on the back of your hands and this will aid in the sterilizing treatment.

Special Notice—MINTOL VAPOCREAM, so extensively used and recommended by physicians and druggists throughout the country, is a remedy of exceptional merit and value. It contains Menthol, Eucalyptus and other healing oils which physicians everywhere use for inflammation and congestion of every description. The reason this remedy has met with such remarkable success is its effectiveness, merit and wonderful healing properties. It contains the ingredients which proved so successful in combating the epidemic of Spanish influenza in England and Spain where the epidemic originated. It is the best antiseptic for sterilizing the throats of children and grown-ups. Have a jar of Mintol in your home. It is as necessary for your protection as insurance on your home. A little jar is inexpensive and can be secured from your druggist.

Amendments proposed by Senator Lodge included a specific provision excluding the Monroe Doctrine from the chairman of the powerful foreign relations committee in the next senate, which will act on the peace treaty and on any plan for a league of nations given close attention by senators and crowded galleries. He urged that the nation think well before departing from the policies of Washington and said the paramount duty now was to conclude peace with Germany.

Germany Should Be Chained

"Much time has been wasted," he said. "The delays have bred restlessness and confusion everywhere. Germany is lifting her head again. The whimpering after defeat is changing to threats. She is seeking to annex nine millions of Germans in German Austria. She is reaching out in Russia and reviving her financial and commercial penetration everywhere. Germany is again threatening, and the only source of a great war is to be found for the future as for the past, in Germany. She should be chained and fettered now and this menace to world peace removed."

He said that while in the interest of peace, it might be necessary to abandon the Monroe Doctrine, the policies of Washington and other principles of Americanism, the nation should reflect and hesitate before it acts.

Debts From Washington's Policies

"There is an issue involved in the league constitution presented to us which overshadows all others," he said. "We are asked to depart now for the first time from the foreign policies of Washington. We are invited to move away from George Washington toward the other end of the line at which stands the sinister figure of Trotsky, the champion of internationalism.

"We have in this country a government of the people, for the people and by the people, the freest and best government in the world, and we are the great rampart today against the anarchy and disorder which have taken possession of Russia and are trying to invade every other peaceful country in the world. For Lincoln's government of the people, for the people and by the people, we are asked to substitute in the United States on many vital points of government, for and by other people. Pause and consider well before you take this fateful step."

War Against Bolshevism

"We must build no bridges across the chasm which now separates American freedom and order from Russian anarchy and destruction. We must see to it that the democracy of the United States which has prospered so mighty in the past is not drawn by any hasty error or by the glittering delusions of some men into grown-ups. Have a jar of Mintol in your home. It is as necessary for your protection as insurance on your home. A little jar is inexpensive and can be secured from your druggist."

THE LOWELL SUN FRIDAY FEBRUARY 28 1919
What Is The Cause of Headache? Backache?

BY DOCTOR CORNELL

Backache is perhaps the most common ailment from which women suffer. Rarely do you find anybody free from it. Sometimes the cause is obscure, but Dr. Pierce of Buffalo, N. Y., a high medical authority says the cause is very often a form of catarrh that settles in the delicate membranes of the feminine organs. When these organs are inflamed, the first symptom may be backache, or headache, dizziness, accompanied by bearing-down sensations, weakness, irregularity, painful periods, irritation and a general run-down condition. Any woman in this condition is to be pitied, but pity does not cure. The trouble calls for Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, which is a separate and distinct medicine for women. It is made of roots and herbs put up without alcohol or opiate of any kind, for Dr. Pierce uses nothing injurious in his prescription.

Favorite Prescription is a natural remedy for women, for the vegetable growths of which it is made seem to have been intended by Nature for that very purpose. Thousands of girls and women, young and old, have taken it, and thousands have written grateful letters to Dr. Pierce saying it made them well. In taking Favorite Prescription, it is reassuring to know that it goes straight to the cause of the trouble. There is but one way to overcome sickness, and that is to overcome the cause. That is precisely what Favorite Prescription is intended to do.

Send ten cents for trial package of Favorite Prescription Tablets. Address invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

Constipated women, as well as men, are advised by Dr. Pierce to take his Pleasant Pellets. They are just splendid for constiveness.

what the league delegates and executive council determine.

Prefers Monroe Doctrine

"Unless some better constitution for a league than this can be drawn, it seems to me that the world's peace will be much better much more securely promoted by allowing the United States to go under the Monroe doctrine, responsible for the peace of this hemisphere, without any danger of collision with Europe as to questions among the various American states and if a league is desired, it might be made by the European nations whose interests are chiefly concerned, and the United States could co-operate fully and at any time, whenever co-operation is needed."

"It must also be remembered that if the United States enters any League of Nations it does so for the benefit of the world at large and not for its own benefit. If we join a league it must be with the view of maintaining peace in Europe, where all the greatest wars have originated. Our share in any league must be wholly for the benefit of others."

Declaring that the tentative constitution was open to amendment being merely a committee report, Senator Lodge said it should be widely considered and discussed to give the peace conference complete opinions.

Very Hastily Drafted

"As it stands," he said, "there is serious danger that the very nations which sign the constitution will quarrel about the meaning of the various articles before a 12 months has passed. It seems to have been very hastily drafted and the result is crudeness and looseness of expression."

"Before we ratify, the terms and language must be as exact and as precise as free from any possibility of conflicting interpretations as it is possible to make them. The explanation or interpretation of any of these doubtful passages is not sufficient if made by one man, whether that man be the president of the United States, a senator or anyone else."

Detailed Criticism

In detailed criticism of the present constitutional form, Senator Lodge said:

Indissoluble Alliance

"We abandon entirely the policy laid down by Washington in his farewell address and the Monroe Doctrine. It is worse than idle, it is not honest, to evade or deny this fact. In the twin-killing of an eye, while passion and emotion reign the Washington policy is to be entirely laid aside and we are to enter on a permanent and indissoluble alliance."

"Under the terms of this league draft the Monroe Doctrine disappears. I have seen it said that the Monroe Doctrine is preserved under Article X; that we don't abandon the Monroe Doctrine, we merely extend it to all the world. How anyone can say this passes by comprehension. Under this draft American questions and European questions and Asian and African questions are all alike put within the control and jurisdiction of the league."

Geneva and Perpetual Peace

Criticizing the territorial guarantees provision, Senator Lodge said that the United States would join in the obligation to maintain all national boundaries everywhere which, he said, was "a very grave, a very pernicious promise to make. It would require, he said, constant possession of bases and armies. He continued:

"There is no need of arguing whether there is to be a composite force behind this league. It is there in Article X absolutely and entirely in their guarantee."

Senator Lodge questioned whether the proposed draft "really makes for harmony among the nations" or will tend to produce dissension and controversy."

"We all desire peace," he said, "but in our zeal for peace we must be careful not to create new obligations and new and untried conditions which may lead to fostering war rather than peace."

Two Pickets Who Took Dinnerpails From Women Held—Police "Booed"

LAWRENCE, Feb. 28.—Picketing activities in connection with the textile strike today were accompanied by the arrest of two men said to have taken lunch baskets and dinner pails from women. The crowd which appeared larger than usual "booed" the police near the mill gates.

Strike leaders made further plans today for tomorrow's mass meeting, which they expect to hold on private land, because of the refusal of the police to issue a permit for a meeting on the common.

LOWELL'S MEMORIAL AUDITORIUM

Perhaps one of the most interesting sections of the legislative act providing for a commission for the erection of Lowell's memorial auditorium is the one which automatically obliterates any further consideration of the so long-discussed rebuilding of Huntington hall. Four years there have been arguments pro and con for the rebuilding of the hall that was destroyed by fire, but if the legislature sees fit to pass the auditorium bill, there will be no further ground for contention and agitation and one of the city's pet topics of conversation will have been discarded. Section 10 of the new bill annuls the ordinance approved by the city government in 1906 creating a commission for the rebuilding of Huntington hall. It reads as follows:

"Section 10. An ordinance of the city of Lowell approved on the fifteenth day of May in the year nineteen hundred and six, entitled 'An ordinance to create a commission to acquire a site and to rebuild Huntington hall,' is hereby annulled, chapter one hundred and thirty-six of the acts of the year nineteen hundred and eight is hereby repealed and all acts and parts of acts, insofar as they conflict with the provisions of this act, are hereby declared to be of no effect."

Mrs. Charles E. Bunker sails today from Boston for Miami, Fla., where she will visit her sister, Mrs. A. E. Rainey.

You can buy a beautiful changeable silk petticoat for $1.50 at this new silk shop: The Sample Shop, Home of Values, 121 Merrimack street.

Hon. Joseph Walker, former speaker of the Massachusetts house of representatives and at present chairman of the state committee on organization for the League of Free Nations, will be one of the speakers at the League of Nations preliminary meeting in Memorial hall tomorrow evening. Dr. Geo. Nasmyth will also speak. Tickets for the meeting may be obtained free at the war work headquarters, 119 Merrimack street. The meeting will begin immediately after reports are read in the near east campaign drive.

Ernest Bailey, the one-armed man who was found unconscious in First street near the car barn Wednesday night and who was removed to St. John's hospital, was transferred last night to the state infirmary in Tewksbury. It is believed that the man was struck by an automobile, but this could not be ascertained for Bailey is still unconscious.

Wagon Officer John Hickson of the local police department has received a beautiful pannier, entitled "Rhine Panorama," from his son, Priv. Charles Hickson, who is with the A.E.F. in Germany. The young Lowell soldier is now located at Andernach and reports that there is but one other Lowell boy in his regiment.

SOLDIERS ENTERTAINED

One of the most successful entertainments of the season was given before an audience of nearly a thousand khaki clad doughboys, many of them fresh from oversea service, at the Jewish welfare hall at Camp Devens last evening, and the boys showed their appreciation of the show by applauding vigorously throughout the entire performance. The entertainment was presented under the auspices of the Lowell Jewish welfare board, in co-operation with the war camp community service. Eighteen local entertainers made the trip to the cantonment early last evening, and found the doughboys eagerly awaiting them at the Welfare hut. The program, which was in charge of Miss Blaisdell, was highly enjoyable and consisted of the following numbers: Mrs. May Dillon Doherty, songs; Miss Madeline Roland, songs; Miss Revie, novelty song; Mr. Andrew Kelleher, ballads; Mr. Kelly, songs; three Redhead sisters, banjo and mandolin selections; Miss Cavanaugh, Miss Tinker and Miss Elley, novelty dances. Miss Crowley was the accompanist. Following the entertainment, general dancing was enjoyed until a late hour.

FRED CROWLEY HONORED

Tendered Testimonial With Street Railway Men and Prominent Officials Present

Fred J. Crowley, former president of the local street railway men's union and chairman of the joint conference board, who was recently appointed a member of the board of trustees of the Bay State road by Gov. Coolidge, was tendered a testimonial banquet by members of the union and friends at the Richardson hotel last evening, and the affair will be recorded as one of the most unique tributes ever paid a local man.

Mr. Crowley had many times been honored by his fellow workers, but last night officials of the road from Boston and other places, as well as state and city officials, and co-workers eulogized him and all agreed that the selection of the Lowell motorman as a member of such an important board was due recognition for honesty, efficiency, fair and square dealing to all with whom the guest had come in contact.

Pres. Thomas Powers
After all had enjoyed a very excellent menu, Pres. Powers called to order and said:

It gives me great pleasure to welcome you here tonight, for we are assembled to honor one who has honored us, one who has succeeded in life because of his clean, honest and equitable record as a man and as an official, who while with us was respected by all, and who upon leaving to accept a more responsible position still holds our admiration and goes with the best wishes of all with whom he came in contact.

While head of our organization he conducted the affairs of the office for the best interest of all the members. He was called upon to render many important decisions; he was obliged to decide many intricate problems; he was sent on many missions in behalf of his fellow workers. Numerous times he encountered obstacles that called for great sacrifice, but he never faltered and invariably he accomplished what he went for. His efficient administration and his remarkable executive ability brought him prominence throughout the state. Hence few of us were surprised when the governor, seeking a man well qualified and thoroughly familiar with railway matters to serve on the board of trustees turned toward Lowell. He selected a man whom we all know will make good; one who will bring credit to the board, himself, his city and state. I refer to your friend and my friend, former Pres. Fred J. Crowley.

It is not my intention to take up too much of your time, as men better qualified than I are here to address you, men whose reputations as public speakers are well known, and I know you are anxious to hear them. However, I could not let this occasion pass without at least trying to pay a well deserved tribute to our retiring president, and pledging to him the best wishes of the members of Local 250, for a continuance of the success that has ensued since becoming identified with the street railway movement.

In conclusion I want to express my personal thanks to the members for electing me to succeed Mr. Crowley, and with the great inspiration I have received from him, I shall try to emulate him and I know if I succeed I too shall have made good. That is my purpose and I ask you all for assistance and co-operation. I thank you.

Major Robert J. Crowley
Major Robert J. Crowley, formerly of this city, but now associated with Hon. James H. Vasey, at Boston, was introduced as toastmaster, and he performed the arduous duties in a highly efficient manner. He said that he was glad of the opportunity to be present, to express his personal congratulations to Mr. Crowley and to felicitate the men in having had in their ranks such a clean, honest and capable member. He said Mr. Crowley was one of the best men he ever knew and one of the best friends the members ever had. He then told of the part the guest had taken in getting better conditions for the men, and he knew that now that he had been placed in an executive position he will continue to do all in his power for his former co-workers.

Major Crowley read letters of congratulation from Robert Stearns and Hon. James H. Vasey, both stating they were greatly disappointed that they were unavoidably forced to forego the pleasure of attending and voicing their approval of the selection of Mr. Crowley and wishing him Godspeed.

Vice Pres. Goff
Robert Goff, vice president of the Bay State, said he too, was greatly pleased to add his word of praise to Mr. Crowley, and said that his elevation was not due to luck but because of his faithful performance of duty, his fair and square dealings with employer and employee and his honest desire to do all in his power to help those who had chosen him as their representative. In Boston Fred Crowley's word is as good as Vanderbilt's bond, and that is some tribute to any man. "One thing," said Mr. Goff, "that impressed me more than anything else in connection with Mr. Crowley's appointment, was what he said to me when I offered congratulations. He told me he was elated because the promotion would give him an opportunity to educate his seven children. That's the type of man Fred Crowley is, and I ask is it any wonder that he has gone up the ladder?

Mayor Thompson
Hon. Perry Thompson, mayor, was presented amid applause and he was in a very humorous mood, telling many stories that brought down the house. He said that with so many railroad men present, he wondered if the Fletcher street car would be on time. He also said that he was given to understand that only railroad men were to be present, but he knew that was untrue, for he had never seen Mike Markman, who was sitting near by, driving a car. In conclusion, he paid a high tribute to Mr. Crowley and said that he would be as successful in life as he wished, hoped and predicted coming duties as he had been in the past.

Receiver Donham
Wallace B. Donham, receiver for the road, paid his respects to the guest in very glowing terms, and said that it was his good fortune to have been in a position to recommend the appointment and he never regretted the part he took in helping Mr. Crowley to get the place. He gave a very interesting review of the problems confronting the road, and said that as Mr. Crowley would have many difficult tasks to perform, he needed the co-operation and assistance of all. He said that Crowley was referred to in Boston as "Abraham Lincoln" and this conveys better words than high esteem and respect with which he is held.

Charles S. O'Connor
Former Representative Charles S. O'Connor of South Boston, a brilliant orator, was next called upon and he was warmly greeted. He said that while he had known the guest but a short time, it didn't require long acquaintance to realize that he was a prince of good fellows. He said that it was an extreme pleasure for him to come to Lowell and add his tribute to a man, a son of an immigrant, who had started at the bottom of the ladder and gone to the top rung, not by luck but by hard work, and in so doing the ladder maintaining the respect of all with whom he had had any dealings. His public life is an open book, said the speaker, and his success is due not only to inspiration but to perspiration. He entered life with everything against him. He was educated in the school of experience, and won his degree from the institution of hard knocks. The speaker then told of the rights of capital and labor, and in conclusion denounced the unscrupulous Bolsheviks who are seeking to tear down the very foundation of this great republic. Their

Is Dangerous

Often Followed By Serious Gastric Ulcers, Says Authority. Most Frequent Cause of Dyspepsia and Indigestion, Says Keep Stomach Sweet With Magnesia.

Stomach trouble, dyspepsia, indigestion, sourness, gas, heartburn, food fermentation, etc., are caused nine times in ten by an acid stomach, says a well known authority. A burning hydrochloric acid develops in the stomach at an alarming rate. The acid irritates and inflames the delicate stomach lining and often leads to gastritis, accompanied by dangerous spasms, ulcers and even malignant disease, says a well known authority.

Instead of neutralizing or sweetening your acid stomach after meals with a little hot water and Bisected Magnesia and not only will the pain vanish but your meal will digest more rapidly and settle an acid stomach than a good magnesia bath. It soaks up the harmful excess acid much as a sponge on blotting paper吸水纸 and your stomach acts and feels like a just a glorified Magneisia that should be used for this purpose and it can be obtained from any reliable druggist in either powder or tablet form. It is safe, reliable, easy and pleasant to use and is not a laxative and is not at all expensive.

FIGHTING BOLSHEVISM

It is now fast becoming a world problem as to how the craze known as Bolshevism can be checked and brought under the control of just laws.

In Russia, the world has an example of what dangerous men can do when they have unrestrained opportunity to mislead an ignorant people.

When they have behind them military force, the case is still worse. Yet the anarchistic principles of Bolshevism spread faster than the military forces can push it. And why not?

To the poor, the indigent, the shiftless, the thrifless, the good-for-nothing in every walk of life, it promises the wealth and power possessed by those who were frugal and industrious, those who by brains and enterprise managed to amass a competence if nothing more.

While the primal impulse of Bolshevism is socialism, yet it has gone so far below and beyond what socialism teaches or practices in actual operation, that it may be said to have far exceeded plain socialism in its possibilities of evil.

Anybody reputed to own property or to possess wealth in any form is designated as of the "bourgeoisie" class and this, in the Bolshevik code, is prima facie evidence of "guilt," bringing condemnation attended by the usual penalties of robbery, followed or preceded by death of the property owner.

Only a vaguely defined class known as the "poorest peasantry" is trusted to support the dictatorship of the tiny working classes which, in Russia, do not represent more than ten or twelve per cent of the population.

Each Bolshevik workman is given the same number of votes as five peasants, under the Soviet constitutions.

The Soviets are local councils made up of Bolshevik workmen; but more often of men who do not work. Under the new regime, they devote their time to pillage and murder, the Bolshevik principle being that all property is to be taken over by their members, their Soviets and leaders without any regard for the rights of the owners. The latter indeed are not supposed to have any rights.

It is part of the Bolshevik program to oppose all non-Bolshevik governments.

In America, the Bolsheviks are represented as favoring individual liberty or equal rights for all; but in Russia, they absolutely repudiate such rights as being "a bourgeois doctrine and practice."

Thus is democracy as understood in America and every other free country repudiated by the Bolsheviks.

Here then is a new menace which the people of this republic must guard against. "Equal rights for all" is the principle of liberty laid down in our constitution and any agitator, whether socialist, anarchist, or Bolshevik who preaches anything different, should be shut up or run out of the country.

In various cities unrestrained mobs may adopt Bolshevik methods and this is one of the dangers of the present hour.

The federal government must help to suppress this evil wherever it appears. The I.W.W. is the nearest thing in its avowed principles and its known practices to Bolshevism, that we have in this country. That must be kept in check and whenever foreign agitators appear, and whether under the auspices of the I.W.W. or some other organization, they should be promptly silenced or, if need be, imprisoned.

In the depression of 25 years ago, in this country, a man named Coxey led a nondescript army of the unemployed to the capitol at Washington, to demand relief. The army was made up very largely of men who never did any work, brawny editorial, deals with the crows, and bar-room loafers—census of mistrust of, or prejudice etc. They carried banners bearing socialistic mottoes and received quotes authors of note to the effect that this "prejudice against England" is due in a great measure to the story of the revolution as told in our school histories. Here are a couple of extracts from the authors quoted:

"The story of the American Revolution in school books has been such as to implant in the young mind a sturdy prejudice against England and this has persistently permeated high and low, although subsequent knowledge and travel has modified or removed the feeling in wide circles, still the prejudice existed."

This speaks for itself. It is from the pen of Frank Gillett, an English writer, in a book entitled "The New America."

Another writer, Frederick W. Wile, author of several books and who, for 13 years, has been correspondent in Germany for the London Daily Mail, comes to the same conclusion as to the cause of any prejudice that may exist in this country against England. He is an American obviously with British sympathies; and he too concludes that American prejudice against England is due to what is known as "text book poison." He further says:

"At any rate, one of the results of our comradeship-in-arms with the Britshers in this war ought to be a new American school history of the War of Independence."

We cannot agree with either of these writers as to the "poison" of the text books. Indeed, we have examined school histories at present in use in the schools of this city, and doubtless in those of many other cities, and they seemed to us much more British than American, not only in tone but in the historical events featured.

Unless we obliterate the facts of history or deny them to our school children, we do not see what can be done in reference to that rather important episode in our history in which George Washington and a few other somewhat distinguished gentlemen took a leading part.

It might indeed improve the feeling between England and America if the historical facts of the war of independence were effaced from the record, so to speak. That, we suppose, will never be attempted, nor will the American people allow their children to be given merely the historical facts that will pass the British censor.

We might suggest that one way in which England can largely overcome the prejudice in this country and elsewhere is to treat the people of her home colonies so that none of them will be coming out here telling of the injustice of British rule. There are some millions of such people in this country at the present time, and they have never been influenced in the slightest degree by any of the school histories.

DAYLIGHT SAVING

There seems to be a strong sentiment in favor of daylight saving. Most people think it is a good thing and so far as experience has gone, no harm can come from retaining it for another year, just as a reminder of the strenuous war times.

If it teaches people to get up early in the morning and enjoy the clear pure air of dawn and see the sun rise once in a while, it will serve a good purpose.

The claim is made that daylight saving reduces the bill for artificial lighting by 25 per cent. This may be an exaggeration, but in any case it seems there is a strong sentiment in favor of retaining the system for another year at least. It can do no harm.

New York is about to start a campaign to raise $5,000,000 so the new St. John's cathedral can be finished. Yes, some work for the jobless, of course. We may be approaching a time when it will be well to have a care not so much for finishing cathedral naves as to spread out so huge a sum as five million dollars so it will be of the greatest benefit for thousands of soldiers who are jobless men.

Four years ago, twenty miles in sixty minutes was break-neck speed. Twenty years ago, forty miles an hour was a life-risk.

Visionaries today dream of under-the-ocean compressed-air-ways with almost instantaneous transportation. Giant speedships for flight-a-kite are prophesied to make starting point and destination a thousand miles between look like next door on the timetable!

Speed will make Japan our neighbor and place Zanzibar just across the street! Speed will make a single language for all nations necessary: will universalize customs, methods, money, trades, ideals, business, and whether foreign agitators appear, and whether under the auspices of the I.W.W. or some other organization, they should be promptly silenced or,

and the main of all races in one great brotherhood.

In the depression of 25 years ago, in this country, a man named Coxey led a nondescript army of the unemployed to the capitol at Washington, to demand relief. The army was made up very largely of men who never did any work, brawny editorial, deals with the crows, and bar-room loafers—census of mistrust of, or prejudice etc. They carried banners bearing socialistic mottoes and received quotes authors of note to the effect that this "prejudice against England" is due in a great measure to the story of the revolution as told in our school histories. Here are a couple of extracts from the authors quoted:

"The story of the American Revolution in school books has been such as to implant in the young mind a sturdy prejudice against England and this has persistently permeated high and low, although subsequent knowledge and travel has modified or removed the feeling in wide circles, still the prejudice existed."

This speaks for itself. It is from the pen of Frank Gillett, an English writer, in a book entitled "The New America."

Another writer, Frederick W. Wile, author of several books and who, for 13 years, has been correspondent in Germany for the London Daily Mail, comes to the same conclusion as to the cause of any prejudice that may exist in this country against England. He is an American obviously with British sympathies; and he too concludes that American prejudice against England is due to what is known as "text book poison." He further says:

"At any rate, one of the results of our comradeship-in-arms with the Britshers in this war ought to be a new American school history of the War of Independence."

We cannot agree with either of these writers as to the "poison" of the text books. Indeed, we have examined school histories at present in use in the schools of this city, and doubtless in those of many other cities, and they seemed to us much more British than American, not only in tone but in the historical events featured.

Unless we obliterate the facts of history or deny them to our school children, we do not see what can be done in reference to that rather important episode in our history in which George Washington and a few other somewhat distinguished gentlemen took a leading part.

It might indeed improve the feeling between England and America if the historical facts of the war of independence were effaced from the record, so to speak. That, we suppose, will never be attempted, nor will the American people allow their children to be given merely the historical facts that will pass the British censor.

We might suggest that one way in which England can largely overcome the prejudice in this country and elsewhere is to treat the people of her home colonies so that none of them will be coming out here telling of the injustice of British rule. There are some millions of such people in this country at the present time, and they have never been influenced in the slightest degree by any of the school histories.

LOCAL GREEKS OPPOSED TO STRIKE PLAN

According to the sentiment expressed at a meeting held in the Greek Orthodox church in Jefferson street last evening, the Greek mill operatives of this city will not take any part in the proposed strike to be called Monday morning for the enforcing of the demand of foreign operatives for a 44-hour week and a 25 per cent increase in wages.

Last evening's meeting, which was attended by about 350 men, was held under the auspices of the Lowell Textile council for the purpose of determining just how the Greek operatives stood in the 44-hour week movement. The gathering was addressed by the vice president and secretary of the Lowell Textile council, who urged their listeners to continue working under present conditions and in the course of their remarks they pointed out that a strike at this time would mean industrial suicide. In the course of the meeting it was learned that the Greek operatives of this city believed in the slogan "more work, more pay" and that they would prefer returning to a 44-hour week than having their hours of labor cut down to 41.

The Russians and the Poles employed in cotton mills also held meetings last evening, the former at 22 Middle street and the latter in Coburn street, but no statement as to the do-

WOMEN IN BUSINESS

Woman's power in America is well illustrated by the thousands of women who entered almost every line of business to replace men who were drafted during the war. Health proved their strongest asset. Many women, however, developed weak, nervous conditions and could not stand the strain of a business life. Such women should remember there is one tried and true remedy in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which for forty-five years has been restoring health and strength to the women of America. —Adv.

ings of the meetings was given out. The committee representing the foreign operatives of this city has set as 7 o'clock this evening the time limit for the answer of the mill officials to their demand for a 44-hour week and a 25 per cent increase in wages and they claim that if their demand is not granted they will cripple the mills Monday morning.

Here's A Gentle Laxative For Elderly People

A daily free movement of the bowels becomes a serious problem as you step from middle-life into old age, and much dependence can no longer be placed on nature herself. The bowel finds artificial aid necessary.

The stronger the physic, as old people soon learn, the greater the contraction of the bowels thereafter, and so the wise purposely avoid salt waters, pills and other harsh purgatives. Many have learned to place absolute reliance on the gentle but positive action of a combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin sold by druggists under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

It produces an agreeable movement as nearly natural and free as high pharmaceutical skill can make it. Thousands use it regularly, in the small dose prescribed, and keep themselves in fine health and good cheer, and entirely free from constipation.

The druggist will refund your money if it fails to do as promised.

U. S. Naval Officials Oppose Sinking, But Reject Proposal For Use as Warships

Resinol did wonders for me Why not try it yourself?

There are certain times during youth when the skin is inclined to break out, become pimply, red and rough.

Such blemishes are usually noticed during the change from boyhood to manhood, from girlhood to womanhood. Great care should be taken lest this condition become chronic.

The continued use of Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap during such times seldom fail to reduce the inflamed spots, thus rendering the affliction less conspicuous.

against any proposal to sink the surrendered German fleet. An outline obtained yesterday of the views held here pointed out that such a course would represent sheer economic waste for which there could be no excuse.

At the same time, however, American naval opinion is equally positive, it is said, that the vessels should not be retained, but be stripped of all valuable fittings and sold for junk to the highest bidders. Suggestions that they be kept for service and distributed among the powers associated against Germany met with the statement that this would not be done in any case.

Reports from London that American and British naval opinion was in agreement that submarines should be forbidden as a weapon of naval warfare were confirmed. The two great naval powers were stated to have agreed that submarine warfare of any kind and the construction of submarines should be outlawed. French naval opinion agrees on the soundness of this view, it is said, but is wholly pessimistic as to the possibility of enforcing such a rule of warfare and therefore doubts the wisdom of enunciating it.

As to gas warfare, the position of the United States is already known. Gen. March, chief of staff, recently told congressional committees, in explaining the army organization for which the department was asking authority, that no chemical warfare service had been provided for because it had been definitely determined not to continue gas warfare.

The only elements of that development of the great war to be preserved in the American army, he said, would be the defensive equipment, such as masks, and a research section to keep up with what other nations might do in developing gas projectors or shells for offensive use.

PRESIDENT WILSON LOSES HIS SMILE ON MEETING SENATOR CHAMBERLAIN

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—President

Wilson and Senator Chamberlain of Oregon, chairman of the senate military committee, met yesterday for the first time since their controversy of more than a year ago, when the president wrote a letter sharply criticizing the senator for his New York speech in which he said certain government bureaus had "almost ceased to function."

Senator Chamberlain called to pay his respects to the president, who was at the capitol conferring with senators and representatives.

The president shook Senator Chamberlain's hand once and the smile on his face disappeared. Gravely bowing,

the president released Mr. Cham-

BALTIMORE, Feb. 28.—Seventeen persons including Major General Alexander Von Saurau, former minister of national defense; Joseph Szeregyi, former minister of commerce; and Herr Matheus and Herr Sonnich, former members of the Hungarian cabinet, are under arrest at Budapest charged with counter revolutionary propaganda, according to advices received here from the Hungarian capital. It is added that Dr. Alexander Welsch, former premier and minister of finance of Hungary, owes his liberty to his ad-

FREDERICK J. SMITH, 13, who, it is alleged, shot and fatally injured his playmate William Doyle, while the pair were on a little hunting expedition in the rear of the Lowell General hospital last Saturday morning, was arraigned on a complaint charging him with manslaughter and also with carrying a pistol without a permit, and the cases against him were continued until March 14. The police are satisfied, it is stated, that the shooting was accidental.

Six young men, who, it is alleged, gained entrance to the rear of the second floor of S. S. Krueger's Two and Ten-Cent store on Merrimack street last Sunday evening by "stilting up" a water-pipe which runs up the rear of the building, and appropriated several packages of gum, candy, knives, postage stamps, flash lights and $2.20 in cash, were arraigned on charges of breaking, entering and larceny.

The cases were disposed of as follows: William Shanley, Lyman school; Earl J. Mitchell, Lyman school; Romeo Hickey, Prout school; Edward Shea, Leo J. Carroll and Charles F. Lannon, continued for final disposition until March 10.

Several other juvenile offenders who were arrested in connection with the numerous breaks which have been made the past week were called and their cases continued for one week.

The case of Joseph Alex, charged with the larceny of a watch and chain from William Konrad was filed on payment of costs when it was found that civil satisfaction had been made.

PLACID SURPRISE PARTY

A very pleasant surprise was tendered Mr. and Mrs. P. McDermott at their home, 76 Pleasant street, last evening when a number of their friends gathered and presented them a chest of silver. The gift was presented by Mrs. Preston and Mrs. Donohue. During the evening refreshments were served and a program was carried out.

The pianist was Miss Agnes Mullen. Solos were rendered by Miss Flanagan and Mrs. Aubrey. Violin and banjo selections by the Misses Dowd. The party broke up at a late hour, wishing Mr. and Mrs. P. McDermott a bright and happy future.

Grand Jury Hears Case of George Shields, But Has Not Reported

The case of George Shields, charged with the murder of Mrs. Mary Trainor, which occurred in Lincoln street, this city, a few weeks ago, was heard by the grand jury in East Cambridge last Tuesday, but as yet no report has been made.

The grand jury will come to this city next Monday for the purpose of hearing the evidence in Lowell cases and among the cases to be presented to them will be those of Nicholas Sherow and James Maston. These two men were arrested

In the early part of this month at Harrison, N. J., on a charge of attempt at robbery, it being claimed that with another companion they held up a saloon keeper. Yesterday Supt. Welch of the local department was notified of the arrest of two Lowellites and he was also asked to investigate their recent conduct in this city.

As a result of an investigation conducted here last evening it was found, so Supt. Welch stated this morning, that Sparrow before leaving Lowell stole a blue suit of clothes valued at $40 and a .32-calibre revolver valued at $15, from P. Georgeopoulos of 2 Bennett's court, while Maston, it is claimed, stole $40 from the cook employed at the Plaza lunch. The grand jury in this city next Monday will be asked to return an indictment against the two men.

The local evening newspaper is the paper that reaches the home where the whole family is there to read it. The Sun this held in Lowell.

plan is a violation of the laws of God and man; they disobey and disregard authority, but their policy will not succeed here, for the American workman is intelligent, and these agitators who forgetting the protection and the freedom they have enjoyed here, will and should be driven from the country. He said that the story of a previous speaker, when he told of Mr. Crowley's rejoicing that the new position would give him an opportunity to provide an education for his children, was one of the most beautiful and most impressive he had ever heard, and it contained the example that a man who is loyal to his wife and family cannot help but be loyal to any trust imposed upon him.

Other Speakers

Supt. Thomas Lees of the local division, Senator Arthur Colburn of Dracut, and William Murphy of Boston also spoke along a congratulatory line, wishing and predicting success for the new trustee. At this point Major Crowley arose and after a very touching speech presented the guest of the evening a beautiful traveling bag as fremen, was one of the speakers today before the legislative committee on cities in favor of the bill introduced on petition of the association, providing for the establishment of the two-platoon system in fire departments.

The bill provides for a day and a night force, the day force working from eight in the morning until 6 in the afternoon, and the night force from 6 in the afternoon until eight in the morning. There is a provision that the day and night forces shall alternate every fourth day. The bill is not to take effect in any city or town until it is accepted at a state election by a majority of the voters voting on it, and it is to be referred to the people only in the event that ten per cent of the voters petition for it.

Mr. Convery referred to the many times the bill has been before the legislature, and said the fremen will make a desperate effort this year to make this the last time. It is only fair, he said, that the people should be given an opportunity to say whether they think the fremen should have shorter hours and as the people pay the bill they should be allowed to decide. He said the present system is not efficient, because nearly one-half of the fighting force is off duty more than one-third of the time. Much of this off-time naturally occurs at meal time when the danger of fire is the greatest.

Senator Hardy of the committee expressed the opinion that under the bill as drawn, fremen would continue to have one day off in five if the two-platoon system went into effect. Mr. Kelley said they have no intention of asking that this privilege be retained. In answer to further questions he said fremen are required at present to work 173 hours a week, excluding the meal hours, which really ought to be added to the hours of employment because if an alarm rings and the fireman's company responds he is required to go to the fire.

In closing Mr. Hardy said there are 400 fremen in Massachusetts working 173 hours a week; he said no private corporation would be allowed to work its men such hours and he hoped the legislature would take the necessary steps to stop the practice by municipal corporations. Many other firemen from all parts of the state endorsed the bill.

The principal opposition came from George A. Flynn, representing the city of Boston. He said the bill is entirely without legislative merit and constitutes a wholly uncharacted interference with local affairs. While it is true that no city is compelled to take it unless its voters approve it, the fact is that once it is adopted no city can get rid of it, no matter how badly it is found to operate. New York and Chicago tried it, he said, and after a very short time each city discarded it as entirely unsuited to its conditions. In those cities there was opportunity to get rid of it, but in the pending bill there is no such provision.

Elias R. Bishop, city solicitor of Newton, objected to the bill because it would weaken the fire fighting ability of cities. The time to stop a serious fire, he said, is when it starts, but this cannot be done if half the fire fighting force is away from the station houses all of the time. Permanent departments were created, he said, in order to have a sufficient number of men on hand at all times, and now it is proposed in this bill to undo all that has been done in that direction.

The committee took the matter under advisement.

Doesn't hurt a bit! Drop a little Frezone on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then you lift it right out. Yes, magic!

A tiny bottle of Frezone costs but a few cents at any drug store, but is sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the calluses, without soreness or irritation.

Frezone is the sensational discovery of a Cincinnati genius. It is wonderful—adv.

STATE HOUSE, Boston, Feb. 27. J.

P. Convery, representing the Lowell firemen, was one of the speakers to-day before the legislative committee on cities in favor of the bill introduced on petition of the association, providing for the establishment of the two-platoon system in fire departments.

The bill provides for a day and a night force, the day force working from eight in the morning until 6 in the afternoon, and the night force from 6 in the afternoon until eight in the morning. There is a provision that the day and night forces shall alternate every fourth day. The bill is not to take effect in any city or town until it is accepted at a state election by a majority of the voters voting on it, and it is to be referred to the people only in the event that ten per cent of the voters petition for it.

Mr. Convery referred to the many times the bill has been before the legislature, and said the fremen will make a desperate effort this year to make this the last time. It is only fair, he said, that the people should be given an opportunity to say whether they think the fremen should have shorter hours and as the people pay the bill they should be allowed to decide. He said the present system is not efficient, because nearly one-half of the fighting force is off duty more than one-third of the time. Much of this off-time naturally occurs at meal time when the danger of fire is the greatest.

In closing Mr. Hardy said there are 400 fremen in Massachusetts working 173 hours a week, excluding the meal hours, which really ought to be added to the hours of employment because if an alarm rings and the fireman's company responds he is required to go to the fire.

In closing Mr. Hardy said there are 400 fremen in Massachusetts working 173 hours a week; he said no private corporation would be allowed to work its men such hours and he hoped the legislature would take the necessary steps to stop the practice by municipal corporations. Many other firemen from all parts of the state endorsed the bill.

The principal opposition came from George A. Flynn, representing the city of Boston. He said the bill is entirely without legislative merit and constitutes a wholly uncharacted interference with local affairs. While it is

ICE SKATING CARNIVAL

Shedd Park Scene of Merry Skaters—First Ice Carnival Big Success

The kids of Lowell put over the city's first real ice skating carnival in fine shape at Shedd park yesterday afternoon. The whole program was designed for the boys and girls, anyway, and they attended in droves.

The afternoon was ideal and the ice in fair condition. The interior of the laid out quarter-mile circular track was black with spectators and they also lined the banks of the pond. Young and old alike enjoyed the sport and the opinion was freely expressed that the city should conduct more such events. And rightly, too, it seems, with the abundance of local water and

LO! THE POOR INDIAN—

Stripped of his vast country, confined to one small spot and looked after like an only child, he fires in the past, reuniting the glories of the buffalo hunts, the great wars—and patiently, he awaits the end, when The Great Spirit will again give him his own. The Indian is truly a romantic figure in world history, and after all, we must confess that he did not always receive a square deal. A story about an educated Indian who was misunderstood is told in the one-mile open—William Johnson, Albert Nebes and Pat Mullane, the latter of Lowell high. If Mullane had worn spiky running shoes he would have won in a walk, and if Nebes could have replaced his runners for rollers, he would have lost the other pair, but as it was, Johnson finished an easy winner. Mullane fell on the last lap and Nebes also got tangled up with his own feet, making it an even easier race for William.

Boys of varying sizes competed in the quarter-mile open, and again many found it no easy task to remain upright. Clayton Webster was the winner with Morris Kishell in second place.

The girls came next. They were a little backward in taking a place at the starting line at first but Miss Armstrong collected more than a dozen before Starter Mattie McCann sent them on their merry way. Elizabeth Mary, Anna, Helen and Clara piled up in one mass right at the start, and Bertha and Louise became coppers ere long, but the two Katherine remained steady and true. Katherine Ryan sailed undisturbed over the finish line in the lead, with Katherine Adams close on her heels.

Champion Rogers again came on the ice, and with E. D. Dean of Lowell as a pace master sped a quarter of a mile against time. Dean showed unexpected speed and was heartily cheered as he finished scarcely 10 yards back of Rogers.

The 2-mile open event was the last on the program and had a half dozen starters. Dean was not to be denied and won with ease. D. Norman finished second.

Owing to the scarcity of material and the condition of the ice the fancy skating was left out, but that didn't seem to affect the good nature of the crowd, who had enjoyed the events to the utmost. Prizes of skates, skis and hockey sticks were presented to the winners by John W. Kernan, superintendent of parks.

Mayor Perry D. Thompson was present at the carnival in the role of Judge, and he was assisted by Robert C. Paradise and Arthur F. Woodies. Alfred Armstrong of the Bunting Club was an efficient master of ceremonies and Matt McCann handled the starter's gun.

SECURING WORK FOR SOLDIERS

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—Official recognition of the party played by the Knights of Columbus in securing employment for returned soldiers is contained in a letter from Director General J. E. Denomore of the United States employment service, Washington, to William J. McGlynn of New York, supreme secretary of the Knights of Columbus.

In Greater New York the Knights have secured positions for about 2000 soldiers and sailors, and permanent placement of men has been achieved in large communities throughout the country, reports to Knights of Columbus headquarters from the Pacific coast stating that over 3500 jobs have been secured for war veterans by the Knights.

Director General Denomore's letter states:

"I wish to thank you on behalf of the employment service for the cordial cooperation shown by your organization throughout the country with the work of the United States employment service. A large measure of our success in taking care of placement in employment of the discharged soldiers is due to the efforts of your organization."

"You have been enormous help to us in the organization and operation of the bureau for returning soldiers and sailors. While the work done by these gentlemen everywhere has been of great assistance, it has been particularly well handled in the difficult state of Pennsylvania, where you have two representatives giving all their time to the work."

"At this critical time in the history of our country I know of no work that is more important than that concerned with the replacement of the soldier into civilian life."

Relations of Italy and Jugoslavia Considered Grave at Peace Conference

PARIS, Thursday, Feb. 27. (By the Associated Press)—BERLIN, Thursday, Feb. 27.—Italy and Jugoslavia are viewed as serious in peace conference circles as possible as requiring action by the powers to prevent members of the conference from drifting into a conflict. LOWELL REPRESENTED AT Y.M.C.A. CONFERENCE

Lowell was represented at the 23rd annual Y.M.C.A. older boys' conference held at Springfield Feb. 21, 22 and 23 by Thomas H. Williams, secretary, and 15 young men of the local association. The boys who served as delegates from this city were: Wallace R. Gandy, Douglas Walker, George Hume, Carl Laddaw, Howard Lewis, Chester Lauter, William Thompson, Harold Gordon, Clarence Wilson, Herbert Lawton, T. Harald Sanders, Frank Sawyer, Allan Adams and Charles Morse.

This annual conference is the largest ever in Y.M.C.A. activities in Massachusetts. Rhode Island and more than $600 delegates, representing 16 associations, were present. Speakers of national prominence addressed the boys on various topics, all touching toward the theme of the conference—"Proposed War Citizenship." The principal speaker was Rev. S. Park Cadmus, D.D., of Brooklyn, N. Y.

E. H. Williams, local youth secretary in Lowell, was elected and became leader in the conference and accomplished great things in the banquet held at Springfield's large public auditorium.

H. Harold Sanders, one of the local delegates, held a place on the registration committee. Next year's conference will be held either in Worcester or in a Rhode Island city.

Mr. Safford has written to Congressman Rogers for a copy of the rivers and harbors bill, recently passed by the national house and previously by the senate, so that more intimate details of the provisions of the project may be available.

Probably the most important immediate effect of such development will be the stabilization of the flow of water in the Merrimack river. During the summer months, at some points, one can walk across the river bed, so low is the water. At other times there is danger of inundation. A storage reservoir would do away with this and provide for the control of water. There would never occur what was once common in Lowell—a situation whereby the mills had to close because of low water.

The argument has also been advanced—a collateral one—that the building of these storage reservoirs will provide employment for a large number of men and that this phase of the matter should be taken into consideration. However, congress has set its seal of approval on the plan to expend $35,000,000 throughout the country on the proposition and the next step is the actual survey of territory by federal authorities.

manufacturing plants will be able to save a proportionate share of 150,000 tons of coal annually that will be conserved by the creation of reservoirs in New Hampshire, according to a statement made today by Arthur T. Safford, chief engineer of the mills and Canals.

"The New Hampshire reservoir," said Mr. Safford, "has favored a resolution providing for the complete investigation of the water power of that state and the best method of utilizing the same. It was appropriated $30,000 for this work. Massachusetts has also been working on her own hook in this direction, but now the federal government has stepped in to make the proposition an inter-state affair. Of course, the state laws make it rather difficult for the states themselves to carry out plans for inter-state water development, although they are at liberty to develop the streams in their own territory."

"There are 29 storage reservoir possibilities in the Merrimack river basin with a capacity of 317 billion cubic feet. This is four times the capacity of Lake Winnipesaukee as it now is. The net result of building reservoirs would be the saving of 150,000 tons of coal a year."

"I have no doubt," continued Mr. Safford, "that after the government has made its survey for the proposition and the survey shows the plan to be feasible, that the local mills will be willing to go in on it and back it up. It is merely a proposal to stabilize the water supply and much like the old storage system in foodstuffs. When the water is needed it will be released and when it is not needed it will be held in storage. There will be greater control exercised over the supply."

Generating Electricity

Asked as to the effect the proposed development would have on the generation of electricity, Mr. Safford said that in some of the local mills, electricity was already being generated by water power. In the Massachusetts mills, he said, there is a large generator run by water power which sends electrical current throughout the plant.

Mr. Safford has written to Congressman Rogers for a copy of the rivers and harbors bill, recently passed by the national house and previously by the senate, so that more intimate details of the provisions of the project may be available.

Probably the most important immediate effect of such development will be the stabilization of the flow of water in the Merrimack river. A storage reservoir would do away with this and provide for the control of water.
